

Our strengths

Engineering excellence

We continue to focus on engineering excellence, from design through to finished products that you can trust to deliver the performance you need.

Pioneering RF engineering with a proven track record

Being pioneers in the early miniaturization of RF modules, our UK based R&D teams have created what have become today, the industry standard pin outs.

U.K. based, international solutions

We are familiar with and cater to many international standards, delivering regionally specialized solutions both directly and through a broad network of experienced distributors.

